

PRODUCT CONTAMINATION & RECALL SERVICES

ABOUT US

Response24 is a leading provider of geopolitical intelligence, risk assessments, security alerts and crisis management. Our services are designed to keep businesses and individuals informed of potential threats and opportunities around the world, allowing them to make informed decisions and stay safe in an ever-changing global landscape.

With industry resources developed over 30 years in the business, Response24 connects clients with subject matter experts and crisis management professionals via an innovative online portal enabling ready access to both preventive advice and emergency response in the event of a critical incident.

SERVICES

Our global Product Contamination & Recall panel is made up of experienced individuals and organizations spanning the full range of product integrity disciplines including food and component safety, contaminant analysis, physical recall, supply chain audit, counterfeit investigations and crisis communications.

With experts in key locations we are able to deliver product recall planning exercises and HACCP training; and respond to critical incidents on a global basis.

For further information on the range of Response24's Product Contamination & Recall services, please contact us.

KEY BENEFITS

24/7 crisis response

Global support capabilities

Malicious Product Tampering (MPT) investigations

Laboratory testing

Crisis communications

Business continuity & disaster recovery

Recall planning & review

HACCP training

CONTACT US

+44 (0)118 315 1677

support@response24.com

www.response24.com